

Dear neighbours of Els Poblets

I am writing to you with an important request and a call to action. On 28 May, we have the opportunity to make a difference and contribute to the improvement of our beloved town. On that day it is crucial that each one of us exercises our right to vote. Our active participation in the electoral process is fundamental to shape the future of Els Poblets. Every vote counts and represents a voice that adds to the construction of a better place for everyone. It is a civic responsibility that we must not take lightly.

In our hands is the ability to elect those who will lead our town, those who will make decisions that will directly affect our lives and those of generations to come. We must reflect on the proposals and track records of the candidates, and select those who best represent our values and aspirations.

Let us not underestimate the power we have when we unite around a common cause. By walking together we can drive positive change, improve infrastructure, foster economic development and promote policies that benefit all people.

I realise that sometimes it may not seem that our votes make a big difference, but let me remind you that the sum of all individual voices and decisions can make a significant impact. It is our duty to actively participate in shaping our own future.

Let us not allow apathy or indifference to keep us from this important democratic process. Let us assert our opinions and our hopes through our vote. Let us show everyone that we are a committed town willing to fight for the collective good.

I invite you to research and meet the candidates, to debate with neighbours and friends, and to make an informed decision on election day. This is the time to be agents of change and to work together for a prosperous and equitable future.

Remember that the power is in our hands. Our town need us, and 28 May is the perfect opportunity to make our voice heard.

Let's vote and actively participate in the electoral process. By walking together, we can make a difference and build an even better town.

Thank you for your attention and for being part of this community. I look forward to seeing you all at the polls on 28 May.
